There's a link to Amtrak's Pacific Northwest Corridor schedule, and listings for excursion trains. The Washington Weather page includes current and extended forecasts for major cities and regions across the state, plus statewide averages for temperature and precipitation. Visitors planning to cross the border into Canada should review requirements of Canadian and U.S. customs. A list of Washington state travel planners is included for visitors who want help with their vacation planning. Under Washington Geography find an interactive topo map, a Washington counties map, a map of Washington rivers, and information on the state's 5 sleeping volcanoes. First time or experienced traveler, here's the information you need!

South America is a huge, spectacular continent, with great rivers, lush rain forests, snow covered mountains and tremendous glaciers, barren deserts and fertile agricultural areas. The countries are unique unto themselves, but can be grouped somewhat geographically.

The northern countries face the Caribbean Sea, have mixed populations, a tropical lifestyle and rugged mountains. Here you will find favorite destinations like Angel Falls, the coastal resort of Los Roques and Margarita Island.

The Andean heartland contains the area that once was the core of the Inca Empire. Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador are still the most Indian of the South American countries. Here you will find the Lost City of the Incas, Machu Picchu, the highest navigable lake in the world in Lake Titicaca, snow-covered peaks and live volcanos, like famous Cotopaxi in Ecuador, plus the dense rain forests of western Amazonia.

Brazil is like no other: language, culture, sheer size, superlatives, energy and style, but it does share the Pantanal with its neighbor, landlocked Paraguay where the Chaco is the last grand frontier on the continent. They share also the Parana river, where Friendship Bridge links the two nations near Iguazu Falls.

The countries of the "Southern Cone" are the most European in flavor. Argentina and Chile host some of the wildest extremes of climate and geography - pampas and desert, the Andes, Patagonian glaciers and the Straits of Magellan and Beagle Passage.

The islands, either territories or possessions, share very few characteristics with the mainland. They are unique and out of the way, yet they reward the traveler with sights and experiences far beyond the norm.

But, before you can get to any of these destinations, you have to have a travel plan!

Within these pages you'll particularly useful information for the first time visitor to South America, but experienced travelers will also find this information a handy way to refresh their memories or find something new.

These pages will take you directly to hundreds more of resources for travel to and around South America. Welcome to the World of Christian Travel

As we move into the 21st Century, imagine yourself experiencing the trip of a lifetime with a group of church members, students and friends as you travel to one of the inspirational Christian destinations in the world: Luther's Germany, St Paul's Greece, or Biblical Footsteps of the Holy Land.

We here at Christian Travel Planners have had the privilege of providing quality Christian travel and warmhearted fellowship for individuals, families and groups for over 37 years. Customize a tour with us to the destinations that you have always dreamed about and unlock the mysteries of Europe's spiritual treasures.

Christian Travel Planners has been providing worldwide travel that invites you to explore your faith and to experience true stories of heroism and faith in the places of old that you have heard about all of your life. Europe's spiritual treasures are the legacy to our future generations.

As Winston Churchill once said, "The further backward you can look, the farther forward you can see." It took two millennia to create the grandeur of Christian civilization, but you can recapture its essence in two weeks or so. One of the chief admonitions of Scripture is to remember the mighty deeds of God. Christian Travel Planners is taking that admonition seriously and is offering a Christian travel experience that will help you and your tour group remember the greatest cultural achievement in history: the creation of Christian civilization.
